Red Pepper & Bean Salad

Serves between 4 – 8 people depending on portion size

1 red pepper (cored and deseeded)
1 red onion (peeled)
½ a red chilli (deseeded)
1 tin of cannellini beans (drained)
1 tin of red kidney beans (drained)
3 medium salad tomatoes (deseeded)
1 teaspoon of red wine vinegar
1 teaspoon of olive oil
Handful of freshly chopped coriander to garnish (optional)

- Placed drained beans in a mixing bowl
- Using a food processor or sharp knife, finely slice the red pepper length ways
- Again, using a food processor or sharp knife, finely slice both the red onion and red chilli
- Using a knife (don't try this bit in a food processor as we don't tend to find it works) slice the tomato length ways at a slightly thicker size than the peppers
- Add above prepped salad to the mixing bowl
- Add red wine vinegar and olive oil
- Mix together
- Add coriander if required

This can be sorted in an air tight container in the fridge for up to three days.
